

McNab Braeside Township Flood Advisory

As winter comes to a close and warmer weather nears, residents of McNab Braeside Township, like many others Townships, may potentially need to deal with the risk of localized flooding.

Currently, the river systems and their tributaries are near normal for this time of year, however; water levels are expected to increase as per usual during the spring thaw.

Although things appear normal at this time, people in low-lying areas that are prone to flooding or flash flooding should monitor local weather conditions and be prepared to secure their property and take safety precautions.

Preparation is essential. Being prepared to deal with potential flooding will minimize your risk to property damage, loss, and will enable a speedy recovery.
